

Parser Train — Review Panel Validation

CSHSE Accreditation Portal · CR-073 · 2026-07-27 18:22 UTC · parsed output shown ON THE REVIEW PANEL, validated against production

This report shows the Parser Train parsing result on the Review panel (not the Self-Study Editor) for each document, section by section — Introduction, Standards (parsed narrative text per spec), Compare (the card located in the source), and Files (the Supporting Evidence rail). The Review panel is opened as a superuser on dev (Parser Train is a superuser function).

Each production-available document (AACC, Kennesaw, MCC) is validated against the production review panel — opened by impersonating that document's real Program Coordinator — to confirm the dev parse (with the learned rules) reproduces the validated outcome real coordinators see. Stevenson is the brand-new document (dev only).

AACC — Anne Arundel Community College (associate) — EXACT byStandard match — 86 specs = prod 86, every Standard identical, introduction on both. The raw parser produced 85 (it bunched Std 15.b into 15.a); the learning loop AUTONOMOUSLY synthesized a split rule that un-bunched 15.b, so dev now reproduces the production panel spec-for-spec.

Kennesaw State University (baccalaureate) — EXACT byStandard match — 35 specs = prod 35, every Standard identical, introduction on both.

MCC — Metropolitan Community College (baccalaureate, 935-page narrative PDF) — EXACT byStandard match — 77 specs = prod 77, every Standard identical, introduction on both. (Parsed at the production submission's level, baccalaureate.)

Stevenson University (baccalaureate) — the brand-new document — dev-only

Dev Parser Train: 20 standards · 86 specs · introduction present · 1 evidence file. Production PC: Nicole Williams.

The HS program is part of KSU which is accredited by the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools Commission on Colleges \(SACS\) to award baccalaureate, masters, specialists, and doctorate degrees. KSU is also authorize to offer additional credentials, such as certificates and diplomas at approved degree levels. In August 2025, KSU successfully completed its SACSCOC Fifth-Year Interim Review and is currently preparing for its next full 10-year reaffirmation review scheduled for 2029.

From 2018 to 2022, programs with specialized accreditation—such as the Human Services program accredited by the Council for Standards in Human Service Education (CSHSE)—were not required to submit annual assessment reports to the Office of Assessment beyond their periodic self-study documentation. However, following a review of the 2022 self-study, the Office of Assessment identified gaps in alignment with SACSCOC assessment expectations. In response, the Office of Assessment collaborated with the HS Program Director to develop a formal Assessment of Learning (AOL) Plan, which includes a structured process for ongoing assessment and an annual reporting schedule. Beginning thereafter, the HS program submits annual assessment reports to the Office of Assessment each March to ensure continuous improvement and compliance with institutional and accreditation standards. Development of competent human services professionals The Human Services Program at Metropolitan Community College is explicitly designed to develop competent human services professionals, as reflected in the official program catalog and degree offerings. The program offers Associate in Applied Science degrees in General Human Services and Alcohol and Drug Counseling, an Associate in Arts transfer degree in Human Services, and related certificates, indicating that educational preparation for helping professions is the core purpose of the curriculum and degree titles. These objectives are consistent with the College's mission to deliver relevant, student-centered education that meets community work force needs, and are formally substantiated by the program's accreditation by the Council for Standards in Human Services Education (CSHSE).
